

FRANKFORT — Everything is pointing to a big turnout for the annual Frankfort Fall Festival Sept. 2, 3 and 4, according to the committees in charge.

Maggi Lindee, who is in charge of the outdoor antiques, formerly listed as the flea-market, reports that practically all of the space for these exhibits has been taken. They will be displayed on the village parking lot on Hickory Street, adjacent to the new municipal building.

Mrs. Lindee was to cut the list off at 40 exhibits. Betty Hillenbrand, is figuring on 50 displays by artists. These will be spaced along Kansas Street, between Oak and Hickory Streets. Harold Slocum, in charge of arrangements, said there will be more carnival rides than last year, probably seven or eight. These will be set up along the north side of Kansas Street, in the vicinity of Ash.

At the request of the festival committee the village board has ordered Oak Street closed, between Kansas and the Penn Central tracks, for the duration of the festival. The men of the Methodist Church will have a booth on the west side of Oak Street, in this section, as will the Methodist women. Over on the east side of the street and extending into the open space there will be the beer garden.

The Mokena Lions Club will also hold their annual sauerkraut and Weiner supper on Saturday, Sept. 2, in the Veterans Memorial Building.

There will be a union church session in the Frankfort School Sunday, Sept. 3, and the combined choir has already started rehearsals.

The parade, which is expected to be larger than in past years, according to Slocum, is scheduled for 1 p.m. Sept. 3. Those in charge figure now on 100 different units for the parade, including several band and drill teams. The mini bike riders of the Indianapolis Shrine Club known as the "Indy 500," are to participate, according to William Knippel, and the Shrine Club of Joliet will also take part.

A new feature this year will be a drive through the town on a hayrack. Arrangements have been made with Don Warning, of New Lenox, to furnish a team and a hayrack for the three days, and for a dime a person gets a ride around the village.

Frankfort plans village hall overhaul

FRANKFORT — The Frankfort village board voted Monday night to proceed with the remodeling of the village hall.

The action was taken on the recommendation of Trustee Richard Trevarthan, chairman of the Committee on Public Property. According to the plans drafted by Gene Tullos, architect, the section of the hall now used as the meeting chamber for the council and other agencies, will be given over to office space.

The west end of the building, formerly occupied by the Volunteer Fire Department as an engine house and later as a storage for village vehicles, will be made into a meeting chamber.

The preparation of the meeting room will be the first phase of the remodeling program, Trevarthan explained. When that is finished and the village board has a place to conduct its meetings the office space phase will follow.

An estimate has been made, Trevarthan answered in response to a question by colleagues, that the entire job will run about $15,000.

The plans call for central air conditioning and heating, it was said.

The village board has been considering this action for many months. The present quarters are overcrowded. The police have a room at the northeast corner of the building which was originally built as a kitchen. It is expected that the police will remain there until other arrangements can be made for them at some future date. It is possible they will be given space in the building acquired by the village at the southwest corner of Hickory and Kansas Streets.

There are several plans in store for that building, including the setting aside space for public meetings to serve various village groups and organizations. Final decisions have not been reached.

The Public Water Commission, that serves seven communities in Will County, including Frankfort, Mokena and New Lenox, has office space in the village hall. It is to move to larger quarters in Joliet soon, so that will help ease the space problem in the village hall, it was pointed out.

The remodeling of the present council chamber into offices, however, is expected to solve the space problem for sometime to come, and give the village clerk breathing room.

With the growth of the village the business of the village has increased and lack of office space in the village hall has caused considerable confusion, it was explained.

Trevarthan also announced that the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce, which originated the 1890 theme for the village, has donated $1,000 for the construction of a fence for the village parking lot at the south side of the new municipal property. It is to be a split-rail type, which will give a gas light, if not a pre-gas light, era touch to the scene.

In other business:

The board will pass on to the owners of the commercial property north of the A & W Rootbeer Stand on U.S. 45, where a self service laundry, a food store, a liquor store and office are to be located, the service charge for connecting with the sewer and water system as outlined by the village engineers — $14,100.

In arriving at this total the engineers figured the demand would equal that of 28.2 single family dwellings.

The service charge is $500 for a single family unit, and this multiplied by 28.2 brings the total charge to $14,100.

— the board rescinded two ordinances annexing the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway and the Penn Central Railway tracks between the west village limits and the New Lenox-Frankfort townline road and the east limits of Frankfort and Ridgeland Avenue. These tracks had been included in strip annexation proceedings taken some months ago.

This action, according to Village Attorney August J. Santoro, who has been urging it for sometime, should eliminate any court clash involving the village tax levy. Burton Breidert, administrative assistant for the village and Plan Commission chairman, also advised the move.

— the board adopted two annexation ordinances, one a 10-acre tract off Center Road north of the airport, occupied by the Eshbach Fabricating Plant, and the five-acre Zakes property at Industrial Avenue and Center Road.

The board also adopted the two zoning ordinances classifying the properties I-

2. In taking this action the board bypassed a recently enacted law, effective July 1, providing for annexation matters to go first to the Will-South Cook Soil and Water Conservation Board.

— the board gave Trustee Wilbert Klier authority to proceed with television closed circuit inspection of the sewer line between the A & W Rootbeer Stand on U.S. 45 and the treatment plant.

Klier said it was estimated the inspection could be finished in about two days. The charge is $400 a day. Some inspection work has been done.

When completed the village board will know where and if it has to make repairs or where and how much replacement, if any, must be made, it was explained.

— because of Labor Day falling on the regular meeting day of the village board that body will hold its meetings next month on Sept. 11 and Sept. 18.

Annexation agreement provides sewer system

NEW LENOX — Following several meetings and thousands of words between Levitt and Sons, referred to in the annexation agreement as the owners, and the Village of New Lenox, which is known by the same name in the instrument aforesaid, work is to start on the sewer system.

Levitt has accepted the low bid put in by Foschi Brothers, of Joliet, and will proceed with the work, which calls for oversize piping in some sections so the sewer will be available to areas of the village to the west of the Levitt development.

The village is to pay a portion of the cost because of the oversize pipe, which would be necessary to meet the needs of 90-acre tract owned by Levitt.

Just what this share will be has been the crux of all the arguments that have been going on all summer but a final solution was reached at a second recessed meeting of the village board—the Circuit Court will decide how much the village shall pay.

The developer is to sue the village. The suit is to take the form of a declaratory judgment under which the court would say how much the village is to pay.

Under the annexation agreement the sewer work was supposed to have started last March 15 and finished by June 15. The plans for the sewers system, drafted by Robert E. Hamilton and Associates, village engineers, were not ready by March 15.

John Djerf pointed out at the adjourned village council meeting last Thursday night that the explanation for this was very simple—the plans had not been ordered by March 15 by Levitt.

They were eventually ordered, prepared and the village board asked for bids. There were to be two bids, one known as the base bid covering the entire cost of the job, and one known as the alternate, which was to represent the cost of the project to Levitt. The difference between the base bid and the alternate bid would represent the cost of the use of oversize pipe and would be paid by the village.

The village was to advertise for the bids and let the contract, subject to approval of Levitt and Sons.

The paragraph relating to the letting of this bid in the annexation agreement is subject to various interpretations and one of them provided for adding up the alternate bids and taking an average of them for the cost to be paid by the village. It also could be interpreted as to take the lowest, responsible bid, with the village to pay whichever sum was lower.

On July 5 the village board opened bids on the sewer work. There were but two bids and the one made by Blaine Saxton, Mokena, was low. His net base bid was approximately $177,000, after a $20,000 discount was taken.

Saxton offered to cut his original bid of $197,269 by $20,000 because he was putting in the village water system and had his equipment on hand. Using the average formula it came out that Levitt and Sons would pay $142,408 and the village would pay $34,861.

The village accepted Saxton's bid, subject to approval by Levitt. The developer rejected the bid and re-letting was advertised. The bids were opened July 19. There were seven bids. The base bid submitted by Foschi Brothers was $147,887.40 but the alternate bid was an odd one—Foschi's alternate bid $142,251 or $636 less for installing the oversize pipe.

The village board accepted the Foschi bid. Levitt and Sons indicated they were studying the situation, and remarking that this alternate bid was unreasonable. Everyone concerned in the matter apparently was of the same opinion that the bid was unreasonable but nevertheless those were the figures.

At the regular meeting of the village board Aug. 2, Kenneth Campbell and Robert Brandwein of the Levitt staff were on hand to urge that something be worked out. It finally was decided to adjourn the meeting to Thursday night.

Robert Condon, with the law firm of Herschbach, Tracy, Johnson & Wilson, and acting as village attorney for New Lenox while Wayne Johnson is on vacation, said he would come up with an opinion, as he interpreted the agreement and the facts, on Thursday night.

On Thursday night Condon outlined his position to be that under state law the village board must accept the lowest bid, offered by a responsible bidder: that the lowest responsible bidder was Foschi Brothers and that the difference between the base bid and the alternate bid was $636 which would be the village's share.

The village board accepted Condon's opinion and declared they would stand on it.

The only thing the board could do, the members said, was to let the contract again if Levitt rejected the bid. Campbell and Brandwein came up with "time is the essence..." and protested that to have another letting would cause too much delay, and reminded the board of another paragraph in the agreement which could be interpreted as giving the owners the right to go ahead and put in the sewers themselves, since they were not in by June 15, and that the cost would have to be borne entirely by the village.

The board members countered by contending the village has done its best to cooperate with the developer and has not hampered or hindered the work. They also talked about injunctions, which could really delay things, and what could happen if the developer started work without the necessary permits, etc.

Brandwein and Campbell skirted the question of rejecting the Foschi bid (it is under the engineer's estimate) and said they would meet with the board again, say Friday night, and maybe a solution might be forthcoming.

So it was decided that if a quorum could be present the board would meet with the Levitt representatives at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

That was when the representatives of the developer accepted the Foschi bid and served notice that it would ask the court to set the village's share for the oversize pipe in a declaratory judgment.

Representing the village at the Thursday night session were Trustees James Warning, Francis Miller, Howard Hutchins and Lutz M. Guenther. Warning, who presided Thursday as mayor pro tem, could not attend the Friday meeting, but Jackson Batson, who had been unable to attend the Thursday session, was there together with Miller, Hutchins, Lutz and William Brown; newly appointed member of the board.

The board is satisfied with the outcome and the fact that the village's share of the sewer costs will be just.

Company rings Frankfort's bell last Wednesday night in opposing location of a north-south leg of the proposed South Suburban Freeway at the far west line of the mini-corridor.

The route on the western edge of the north-south stretch would come through the Banbury Subdivision. There are some expensive homes there and the owners want to keep them.

They suggest one of the proposed routes east of the village, across what is called on some maps, the Hickory Creek flood plain. There is little likelihood this area will ever be used for homes, Nicholas said, and the land should cost less than in other sections.

This eastern route, Nicholas said, would have interchanges at U.S. 6, I-80, U.S. 30 and Laraway Road, and would then turn west.

FRANKFORT — Illinois Bell Telephone Co. will break ground at 11 a.m. tomorrow (Thursday) for its new plant at Frankfort, one block north of U.S. 30 on 84th Avenue.

The plant will house the latest equipment for telephone service, according to Bill Cremer, manager.

Mayor Glenn Warning and other representatives of the village, Cremer, and other telephone people, and representatives of the contractors will attend the groundbreaking and later have lunch at the Wagon Wheel.

If the village board could not take any action as a body on short notice, Nicholas said, he asked that members write their views to S.K. Ziejewski, Regional Transportation Engineer, Region 1, Illinois Division of Highways, 300 N. State St., Chicago, 60610, before Aug. 11. He added that he hoped the trustees would support the Banbury plan to move the mini-corridor eastward. The board took no action.

Anyone in the area who wishes to present his views on the location of the South Suburban Highway can write to the address listed in the preceding paragraph.

The Mokena village board is on record as favoring a route east of New Lenox rather than the western line.

Frankfort has gone on record as favoring the east-west route that is south of Laraway Road. If the freeway follows Laraway Road, it was explained, it would play havoc with the Frankfort airport and the Frankfort industrial district.

Park Forest also favors the route further south. It does not want the road to go through Throne Creek Woods.

The state leans to the western route for the north-south leg, according to the engineer who conducted the hearings at Lincoln-Way High School but indicated that the state could be prevailed upon to change its stand.

Board files for estate

NEW LENOX — At its regular meeting the first of this month the New Lenox Grade School board filed complaints with the Will County Bar Association, The Illinois State Bar Association, the Will County Board of Realtors and the State Realtor Licensing Board regarding the handling of the Caroline Bentley Estate.

Miss Bentley died last year and left most of her extensive holdings of farmland to the New Lenox Grade School and the Lincoln-Way High School Districts.

Both districts believed the original prices at which the lands were sold by the executors of the Bentley estate were too low.

The school representatives went to court over the estate, and the matter was finally settled out of court as the hearings were about to start. Under the settlement the schools got more money for the property, one sale was cancelled and a commission that had been paid was returned.

Board members said they had no idea if anything would come of their complaints, but if any of the bodies to whom they were made show interest the board is prepared to go into details.

The board also filed an official protest with the Regional Transportation Engineer expressing concern over the two proposed minicorridors connecting the Lake-Will Freeway that appear to go through or very near the new school site on Illinois Highway, south and east of New Lenox.

As for the new school Healy, Moore and Associates, Joliet architectural firm, will begin preliminary planning and further studies for presentation at the next board meeting. Besides the architects a representative of Mackin Sales, of Momence, was present and the board will study possible use of a systems approach to new school construction — which means the board will study the possibility of using prefabricated construction.

It was also reported at the board meeting that the district has received $13,420 from Lecitt and Sons as a contribution negotiated by the district when the housing development was started.

More money from this source will come in as the work progresses. The contributions take up the slack occasioned by the normal tax lag from the time buildings are started and taxes are paid.

The board appointed a representative as legislative chairman to represent the New Lenox district in the Three Rivers Division of the Illinois Association of School board. Ralph Attaway was appointed.

Tekton deadline nearer

WESTHAVEN — At a short quiet village meeting held Saturday, Aug. 5, President Curtis Whitaker commented on Tekton opoCorporation's progress in taking care of the backlog of complaints against its homes.

"Some effort is being made to correct the situation," stated Whitaker. The village president said he was concerned that Tekton is only correcting the siding on the bi-level homes and is not replacing the defective siding on the ranch homes.

Whitaker said this situation has not been explained to him, but he is staying out of it and leaving it in the hands of Building Inspector Dennis Ward.

Whitaker told the board that he would be out of town for approximately 14 days, and he expects Tekton to be up to par on their repairs by the time he arrives back in town. The village president expressed the belief that Tekton could not possibly finish all the repairs by the Aug. 31 deadline.

Attorney Ronald Glink was advised by Whitaker to examine the new ordinance adopted by the Cook County Board regarding the governing of trailers and trailer parks. Glink will examine the ordinance and see if the village should adopt a similar ordinance.

The Orland Park Fire Protection District contract was approved unanimously by the board. President Whitaker recommended that the full year's payment be approved, previously the payments were forwarded to the district each month. The board approved the sum of $1,560.00 for the contract which runs from July 1972 to July 1973. The document was signed by Whitaker and Clerk Pro-tem Meredith Macki.

First Lien Company and Attorney Glink have come to an agreement on the purchase of parts of the lots that the village hall stands on, provided the First Lien Co. can secure clear title to the property.

The board moved to drop the appeal in the Appellate Court regarding annexation of approximately 40 acres of land at approximately 88th Avenue and 159th Streets. Glink told the board that since Westhaven has dropped the Fernway Annexation appeal there is no point to continue the other appeal. The property in question is seeking annexation to Orland Park.

The board approved the purchase of 14 street signs at a cost of $154.00. The village will purchase eight children crossing signs, and six 20 mph signs.

Trustee Macki announced that the village hall will now be open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. The board moved that the deputy clerk's hours not exceed 30 hours per week.

Warrant No. 47 was approved for payment by the board, breakdown of the warrant is as follows:

Terry's Auto Body Repair (police car repair done Feb., 1972.) $70.95; Murphy Insurance (Building Inspector Ward's bond) $16.16; Payan and Stitt (clerk's bond) $14.00; J & J Letter Service, $6.45; J & J Letter Service, $26.00; Dorothy Linares (building Department secretary) $88.00.

Also Whitaker, July pay, $60.00; Clerk Short, July pay, $35.00; Trustees Bartholomey, Macki, Kellogg and Presler, July pay, $30.00 each; Trustees Devero and Aldrich, July pay $15.00; Attorney Glink, retainer for July $245.00; Illinois Bell Telephone Co. (349-2288) $22.81; Barbara Sea, deputy clerk, 48 hours, $96.00.

Also Commonwealth Edison Co. (street lighting) $91.12; Murphy Insurance (added endorsement to village policy) $12.00; Orland Fire Protection District contract, July 1972 to July 1973, $1,560.00. Warrant total was $2,516.10.

One item was tabled and not included in the original warrant. The sum of $122.20 was not included in the total. This sum reflects the purchase and repairs on the village hall door by Harry Richards.

Trustee Macki recommended that this item be tabled until Inspector Ward could approve the work done on the door by Richards.

'FHA will have to finish'

WESTHAVEN — "In my honest opinion Tekton will be run out by the people," President Curtis Whitaker commented at the agenda committee meeting of the village board held Wednesday, Aug. 2.

"FHA will have to finish every home if Tekton is run out of the village. If Tekton doesn't want to finish here, who cares," stated Whitaker. "Tekton won't pull out," continued Whitaker. "Union Camp, the company that owns Tekton Corporation, won't let them pull out."

During a two-hour meeting the subject of the drainage ditch in the southern section of the village was thoroughly discussed. Residents of Highview Avenue complained, "The ditch is a health and safety hazard," as one resident stated, "Rats have been seen in the ditch, and with heavy rains the ditch is deep enough for a child to drown."

A Highview Avenue resident stated that he was very concerned about the stop orders that had been lifted on the Tekton homes already under construction. He told Trustee Ralph Aldrich "If the permits have expired, it is a complete new ball game. They (Tekton) didn't live up to the agreement," the resident contended.

He also voiced his concern as to the Tekton homeowners being liable for any debts from sub-contractors working for Tekton. The resident stated that if Tekton leaves the village and the sub-contractors are not paid, the village should protect the homeowners.

In discussing speed limits for village streets, Whitaker insisted that a 15 mph limit be placed on all village streets. Some of the residents present didn't agree with the 15 mph limit. One resident asked Whitaker, "Who do you think is going to pay attention to that."

Whitaker also stated that parking on the village streets is the worst thing in the world.

Civic association seeks HUD advice and assist

WESTHAVEN — Robert Scott, chairman of the Westhaven Civic Improvement Association (CIA) has written a letter to John Waner, regional director of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

In the letter, Scott, representing the CIA has asked HUD to look into any possible FHA malpractices and influences. The letter also requests that HUD investigate John McReynolds, a former building inspector for Westhaven, who is presently working in Arizona as an FHA inspector. The letter claims that McReynolds left no records of inspections when he left Westhaven.

According to Scott, McReynolds, while he was building insector in Westhaven inspected a number of Tekton built homes, many of which have recently been the center of controversy.

Scott said that Tekton also had some projects in Arizona and indicated that there was a possibility that McReynolds might be inspecting Tekton homes in Arizona.

The letter also requests that HUD give a complete screening to the FHA 235 Plan in the Westhaven area to determine any violations.

Requests the builders with records of mis-use of FHA doctrines be categorically denied further use of the FHA for the purpose.

Requests HUD require an ethics form to be used by any builder seeking FHA support, and that such a report be backed by strong legislative wording making any conflicts or mal-practice, or misrepresentations punishable by jail.

Scariano advises board

WESTHAVEN — The Better Government Association has been investigating Westhaven Mayor Curtis Whitaker. While the BGA would not divulge the details of the probe at press time, a BGA spokesman told the HERALD that the BGA had been checking on Whitaker after the mayor went to the BGA about a month ago concerning Tekton Construction Co., a major builder in Westhaven.

The investigation of Whitaker allegedly involves the sale of 59 lots by Whitaker about a year ago. The BGA labled the recent controversy involving Tekton as "PURELY POLITICAL."

Following is the copy of a letter from state representative Anthony Scariano to the mayor and the members of the board:

Dear Mayor Whitaker:

Enclosed is a copy of a letter sent to me by the Executive Vice President of Tekton Corporation, Lewis J. Wright, which is self-explanatory. As you know, I have an abiding interest that the problems of the people of Westhaven be solved, and to that end I met with you and representatives of Tekton and the various homeowners of your village a week ago Sunday, and I spent about five hours in the village.

With reference to the second paragraph on Page 3 of Mr. Wright's letter, I respectfully suggest that as long as your building code, zoning code, health and other ordinances are complied with by Tekton, you permit them to deal directly with the homeowners in correcting the deficiencies and supplying the omissions with which I became so familiar in my tour of Westhaven.

I visited almost every home where the owner had complaints to register against Tekton, as you know. With all due respect and deference to you, I don't think that the problems encountered by your citizen homeowners with Tekton should become the subject matter of any political disputes you may have with Tekton. I think that has been one of the stumbling blocks in resolving the problems that exist there.

Therefore, as a state official who is interested in an early resolution of Westhaven's problems, I strongly urge you to permit Tekton to work out the complaints that Tekton's customers have with that corporation, and that you use your building and zoning codes, and health and other ordinances, to see to it that the consumer is protected. I think this would be the most expeditious way of seeing to it that the promises made by Tekton in its letter to you of July 21, 1972, are fulfilled.

If there is any other way I can be of help, I am no further away than your telephone.

Very sincerely yours,
Anthony Scariano

Petitioners to ask action

ORLAND TOWNSHIP — Petitions are being circulated this week in an effort to call the State Highway Department's attention to the dangerous intersection of 135th Street and Harlem Avenue.

The petition signing was launched Monday evening at the August meeting of the Orland Township Regular Democratic Organization. Rep. Bus Yourell told the organization that he would personally carry the petition to Springfield for presentation to the highway officials.

Fritz Mullhausen, 9330 136th Street, brought the matter to the attention of the township organization. Six hundred signatures are needed on the petitions before they can be presented to the highway department, according to the Democrat officials.

Westhaven acts to slow traffic

Although the speed limit signs had been removed from the village hall and could not be found Mayor Curtis Whitaker and Robert Scott of the Westhaven Civic Association began preliminary installation work recently of six 20 mph signs on Westhaven's Haven Avenue.

WESTHAVEN — Signs stating "Slow Down - Children," and "No Parking at any Time" have been erected in the north section of Westhaven.

Marlene Slager, daughter of Mrs. Marilyn Slager, painted four brown and white signs, three indicating "Slow Down-Children," and one "Slow" sign.

According to Mrs. Slager, Mayor Curtis Whitaker of Westhaven was asked by Mrs. Slager in January of this year to erect signs that would slow down cars in the village.

Mrs. Slager feels the people "think it's a raceway" and that "as long as there are no police the speed limit won't be enforced." The slow signs were erected July 15 and 16, after Anne Ogren, 5, was hit by a car when chasing her dog.

On Sunday, Aug. 6, "No Parking" signs were put up in front of the Sherwood Hills model homes that would eliminate the congestion caused by visitors' parking in front of the models.

There are also "No Parking" signs by the playground area on Haven Avenue

WESTHAVEN — A picnic sponsored by the Civic Improvement Association of Westhaven will be held Sunday, Aug. 13th, at 11 a.m. The picnic will be held at the open field, next to the baseball diamond, at 167th Hobart Ave. Soft drinks and coffee will be provided. Twenty items for the home will be awarded during the picnic. Games with prizes will be provided for children and adults.

WESTHAVEN — A zoning amendment hearing regarding property at approximately 167th Street and 90th Avenue scheduled to be held at noon, Aug. 5, was not held as the owner of the property in question did not arrive.

Trustees Ralph Aldrich and Donald Kellogg were on hand for the proposed hearing.

On second thought

Here's a real spender

By Glenn Logan

There is figure of speech in our language sometimes used to describe a loose spender. "He spends money like a drunken sailor," is the way it goes. As far as your correspondent knows the origin of this expression is lost in antiquity. Why inebriated seafarers were picked out rather than followers of any other trade I haven't the faintest idea. As far as I have been able to ascertain there have been no libel or slander suits filed as a result of use of the expression. Although it wouldn't be surprising if someday the seaman's union should go to the courts and seek to have the line expunged from our speech and make anyone alluding to the profligate spending of drunken seafarers at least a misdemeanor, or maybe a felony.

Well, when one gets down to a discussion of profligate spenders he doesn't have to go to sea. Washington, D.C., Bureaucracy-on-the-Potomac, has as fine a collection of profligate spenders as may be found in any spot in the world.

There is no intent here to belittle the spending ability of bureaucrats of other nations. No doubt they are as talented as are ours—it is just that they don't have access to as much money.

It is true that the bureaucrats at Washington don't do all the spending. Sometimes they will release funds or grants for a municipality, some other local taxing body, or anyone of a multitude of agencies who will do the actual final spending.

Before the grant is released the bureau in charge got in a few good licks too. For instance they have to make a study of the forms on which the applicant has made his plea. It is quite possible that in the meantime new forms have been adopted—after a lot of study sessions and conferences and calling in of specialists for advice. So the applicant for a grant is ultimately informed that his request had been decided but by filling out the new forms it would be back in the works again. Pickynish stuff, you say. Sure, but the money expended on all those conferences, studies, new forms, etc. add up and the totals can't be lumped of as hay.

Making studies is a fine way for keeping the money in Washington. They can be on any subject. For instance the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) recently came out with a gem.

It proposes to spend $23,000 on "The Evaluation of Parameterization of Stability and Safety Performance Characteristics of Tow-and Three-Wheeled Vehicular Toys for Riding."

Translated that means that HEW wants to spend, and no doubt will, $23,000 to find out why tots fall off of bicycles and tricycles.

The question that comes to mind here is will $23,000 be enough? No doubt the committee that labors over this one will have to call in numerous expert witnesses from the medical and physics fields and it wouldn't be surprising if the committee finds the subject so absorbing and so important to the public that it will keep it going for several years with continual upping of funds, naturally.

Who knows? It may be that Nader's Raiders will have to be called in.

If HEW starts to study why kids do all the things kids do, even holding the cost to a flat $23,000 per study, the cost could rise into the millions.

An editor out in Goodland, Kansas, says he has a tot and the tot falls off of tricycles because he is too small to be on one.

He offers this explanation free—but this will not deter the HEW committee. It will continue with its problem and doubtless will come up with an explanation that will require another committee's study to reduce it to plain English. Fifty thousand dollars should cover the cost for the interpretation committee, unless it has to hire lawyers.

The sad thing, as far as the taxpayers are concerned, is that the President nor the Congress are unable to do anything about it. Congress could shut off all the money but organizations and individuals who profit from bureaucracy would never stand for that.

Maybe in time we will have someone conduct a study and come up with the answer to the question asked in minstrel days, why did the hen go across the road?

And to wind this up we offer two tidbits from faraway editors:

"It would be nice," says the one from Gettysburg, S.D., "if the poor were to get even half of the money that is spent studying them."

And from an editor at Comstock, Neb. — "There's a new doll on the market. It's called a welfare doll. You wind it up and it doesn't work."

Fulton building should become a historical site

Three generations can handle the preservation of history during their lifetimes, via "word of mouth." Each time, of course, a little something of the original is lost.

There are few people living who remember sitting at Grandma and Grandpa's kitchen table and hearing tales of "when I knew everyone in town."

However, the history of Tinley Park's founding fathers is slowly sifting through our fingers. Their happinesses and hardships, in the creation of a community, are losing significance in attics and basements.

These people farmed, built railroad, a general store, post-office, cobbler shop, school house, churches, grinding mill, calaboose, elevators, a bank and formed a government. They appointed a lamplighter, marshal, and installed their first telephone switchboard. They organized a fire department, built an airplane factory and established the Tinley Park Electric Light and Power Company. They created village history through time, strength and willpower. They lived here in Tinley Park with their horse-drawn buggies, their fear of God, their knowledge of the fields, long skirts, bonnets, pride and determination to succeed in a new county.

They worked together for the village and yet they clung to their own little ethnic and religious groups.

There is little left to visualize of those years. There are even fewer people left to repeat the stories.

Some of the historical happenings printed along with descriptive passages only tease the enthusiastically interested. Progress must not be impeded—but, the past must be preserved.

The TIMES HERALD editorial staff, consisting of people deeply involved with recording history, suggest the establishment of a community home to house the history of Tinley Park.

There are still a few buildings in the village that depict its 125-year history. One building in particular would be large enough to accommodate furnishings from the era of its birth and still leave sufficient space for offices, display cases, storage of records and possibly meeting rooms. This building is the Fulton building on the corner of Oak Park Avenue and South Street.

The two-story red, brick building is in itself historical. It was built by Carl Vogt in 1871 for $17,000. It still has the original solid walnut staircases, woodwork and window sashes. The first bathroom fixtures installed are still intact in one of the four apartments. This outstanding building is now owned and maintained by Clarence Fulton, grandson of the building's second owner. Fulton's grandmother purchased the building at a mortgage sale for $2,500. Fulton told the TIMES HERALD that he could think of "no reason not to sell the building for a historical site."

Local realtors estimate the selling price today somewhere between $200,000 and $300,000 for the 4½ acre site and building.

The building could be purchased, possibly through the village or another taxing body, on an installment sale with 30 percent down. There is also the possibility of obtaining a grant through the state from the Tourist Attractions Department.

The acreage west of the building could be used for village and train commuter parking. (The Public Relations office of the Rock Island Railroad told the TIMES HERALD that presently there was no consideration for removal of the depot to a site farther west.)

However, should the land ever be available for other than parking, the acreage could be the location for restoration of additional historical buildings such as the oldest public building in town which is now used as a warehouse. This building was originally built as a schoolhouse, then utilized as the village hall.

Records of land sales, business transactions and personal family letters—usually containing volumes of worthwhile information—and other irreplaceable records could be safely kept in a community home. Rooms in this home could be dedicated to prominent families.

Tinley Park would live with pride in its past as well as the future. A locally appointed historical society could delve into little known facts, and ancestral relationships, and record forever the history of Tinley Park. This data would remain for everyone, indefinitely, at the Fulton House.

Editor:

Oak Forest will have Chicago Water and as one who chaired the committee for one and a half years of study, I am most gratified. Special thanks and gratitude for the long hours spent on this project belong to the following members of the committee: Ronald Feldner, Phil Coatar, Sr., John Bresingham, Pat Healy, Gordon Start.

In addition it was a pleasure to work with such dedicated officials as those of Tinley Park. Their community can be justifiably proud.

I would also like to commend those members of the Oak Forest Board of Trustees who had the courage of their convictions and through the intimidations and uninformed attacks by certain members of the board.

I have refrained from publicly responding to these attacks because I believed my efforts to the project were more important than writing long letters for newspaper print. I am prepared to comment.

In September of 1971, a special board meeting was called to discuss Chicago Water. At this meeting (public record for review) I provided information and reviewed all the alternatives to our water supply and requested that members of the Board submit what additional information they felt was necessary. I received no such request from any board member. In the following months additional board meetings were held and as other information on the project became available, it was passed along to all board members, with requests for response (also public record).

In addition, several meetings were held with Tinley Park officials, none of which were attended by these critics; yet each of the meetings were covered by the press. This lack of interest at a time when certain individuals should have been keenly interested in a project so complex and important to the community continues to astound me especially considering the flurry of letters and comments viciously attacking not only the proposal but the integrity of all those who participated.

In this respect, I leave it to the public to judge their motives and actions. Personally I totally denounce and deny most of the statements made by Trustee Neuzil. I liken his comments to an individual who, in order to validate his position, contrives fantasy for public consumption. Certainly public discussion was and is necessary but beyond that each elected official shares the responsibility for genuineness in this discussion.

In closing, I am confident there will continue to be those who would say, "We should have kept our current water supply" or "we should run the line ourselves" but remember, if we had selected one of those alternatives, then there would be those who would say "The Oak Lawn proposal was the best." Only the future will give us the real answer. I believe, as those who participated in and have voted for the project believe, that the right decision was made in 1972.

Recently an article appeared in one of the major metropolitan papers where it was stated that I had made reference to the Parkside area of Tinley Park as being comprised of lower middle class housing.

I would like to state here that I made no such comment. In my occupation as an attorney, I am involved in handling real estate sales and purchases in that area and find that quite often the prices received for properties in Parkside exceed the sales prices of homes in our newer areas of town. Also, I personally find that due to the landscaping and the upkeep of their homes by the residents of Parkside, the area exuberates the charm and warmth of Tinley Park and is a model for the newer areas of our town.

I would like to correct another error in the article that appeared. I am not a trustee of the Village. I serve the Village solely in the capacity as Chairman of the Long Range Planning Commission. In that capacity I try to serve the residents of all the areas of Tinley Park to the best of my ability.

Sincerely,

James F. Kirk

I just had to write to agree with Mrs. Jerome J. Panzer's letter which appeared in your Aug. 2 issue.

We too are satisfied homeowners in Frankfort Square and as this being our third home, we feel we are in a position to judge.

It is always the one or two dissatisfied homeowners that ruin a new community's image.

We found only a few minor things wrong with our home and these small things were easily corrected either through Mr. George Baaske's crew or through my husband's efforts.

And everyone at the Frankfort Square "barn" office is more than helpful and courteous. We visited them many times while our home was under construction and always found them ready to answer any questions that we had.

In all, we are very well pleased with Hoffman Rosner and Frankfort Square and our new home.

'President McGovern': how does that ring?

(Editor's note: Mr. Flynn, a resident of Frankfort Township in Will County and owner of a travel consulting firm, initiates a new editorial page series in this issue of the HERALD. Readers are asked to submit articles on subjects of their selection to be published in this column weekly. We ask only that the writer contact this office prior to submitting material in order that it can be scheduled for publication.)

By Michael Flynn

How does it ring to you, President George McGovern? We already know what President Richard M. Nixon sounds like and, like it or not, the title does ring with the name.

Stewart Alsop, noted national columnist, spoke before the Executives Club of Chicago and said that one of the not too professional yardsticks he liked to use to determine if a candidate is presidential timber is how does his name sound with "President" before it.

The Democratic Party has chosen George McGovern to be its candidate for President of these United States of America. This was done through a convention that many feared would be a three-ring circus. Most of us would have agreed with this assumption beforehand, given the high jinx of the campaigns for the nomination to go by.

The former young and supposedly disenfranchised have had their say. The underdog became the candidate through the medium of a superbly run campaign. A campaign designed around reform, involvement of the young and poor people and what some call, revolutionary activists. It was done with the efficiency of a well-oiled machine that could continue functioning until Nov. 7, 1972, election day, successfully.

We have seen this new machine topple the power houses of the Daley Machine, Muski Machine and Humphrey Machine. We have seen this new machine lobby and maneuver itself into the presidential nomination within the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

Definitely not a place for inexperienced and immature children. They have had their baptism of fire and can rightfully claim their place in their Democratic Party. They have earned respect and admiration for they challenged formidable forces.

Mayor Richard J. Daley has not lost. He has suffered only temporary setbacks. He can still be the leader of the entire party in Illinois and he can still be the guiding hand which will help the party achieve victory in the fall. We hope that the Mayor remembers that he too had to unseat some powerful forces when he was climbing his ladder of success and that others are entitled to a little of the glory and personal satisfaction in electing their candidates to office.

President Richard Nixon is reported to have expressed a wish that Senator McGovern would be his opponent for he feels that he has a better chance of beating him than anyone else. Let us remind the president, if we may be so presumptuous, that the young of America are a force that has not been fully tested.

The majority of their ranks are of Democratic Party affiliation. Many will no doubt seek their parents advice and some will be guided by that advice. Others, as McGovern has shown us, have some fixed ideas of their own and they can make mature judgments.

McGovern owes his recent successes to a skillful combination of old and new, experience leading the inexperienced. Fresh from their victories, the McGovern forces can grow into a powerful organization. Complacency will not be evident this election year, for if it is, there will be a new president.

The young of our land have had the wisdom of the ages taught to them in the finest educational system in the world. They have had to shoulder responsibility much sooner than many members of the older generation were required to in their early years. They have demanded a greater say so in their destiny and they have proven that they are willing to work to earn the right to express their opinions in our political system in a manner that will not be ignored.

Win or lose, Senator George McGovern has contributed greatly to the future generations of America. He has opened the ivory towers, the political castles to the young, minorities and revolutionaries. He has brought his party into the 21st century in a manner that few can fault, through the legally established processes.

near where Oak Village is being constructed. Last evening we walked over to look at the model houses which are not yet complete. The workmanship in them would make you SICK. It seems like the workmen of today (in this case, carpenters at $9 an hour) take no pride in their work. Money is God.

Come look at them, you will be able to see why roofs buckle, foundations crack, floors sag, etc. etc. Materials are cheap and so is the construction. One foundation has a crack in it already. Plywood is used for the roof and fastened to the supports with staples which is all right except that less than half of the staples have two legs in the support. The foundations are not level, and as a result the sill cannot be bolted to it in some places as it could be and wedges (shims) are used under the sill to make things level. The windows open from the bottom only—frames are plastic.

The exterior doors have a styrofoam core faced with baked enamel steel. Things like these will be covered up. The buyer will never see them.

There is no guarantee that the other houses to be built will be any better. A good wind could blow the whole lot of them away. It almost makes one wish it would happen before more of them are constructed and before there are people living in them.

Firemen assist 'crash victims'

The importance of removing auto crash victims safely was the key lesson 31 volunteer firemen from Tinley Park, Mokena and Orland Park learned in a recent rescue school.

The area firemen received two days of "invaluable training in live saving," according to Tinley Park Fire Chief Robert Bettenhausen.

On Saturday and Sunday, July 22 and 23, the Tinley Park Volunteer Fire Department sponsored a rescue school in cooperation with the University of Illinois. A total of 379 man-hours were given up by these men to attend the weekend seminar.

The session, conducted by O. B. Streeper of the Emergency Training Institute, Normal, served to familiarize the fire-fighters with modern, up-to-date techniques of rescue procedures, dealing primarily with the rescue of victims from wrecked automobiles.

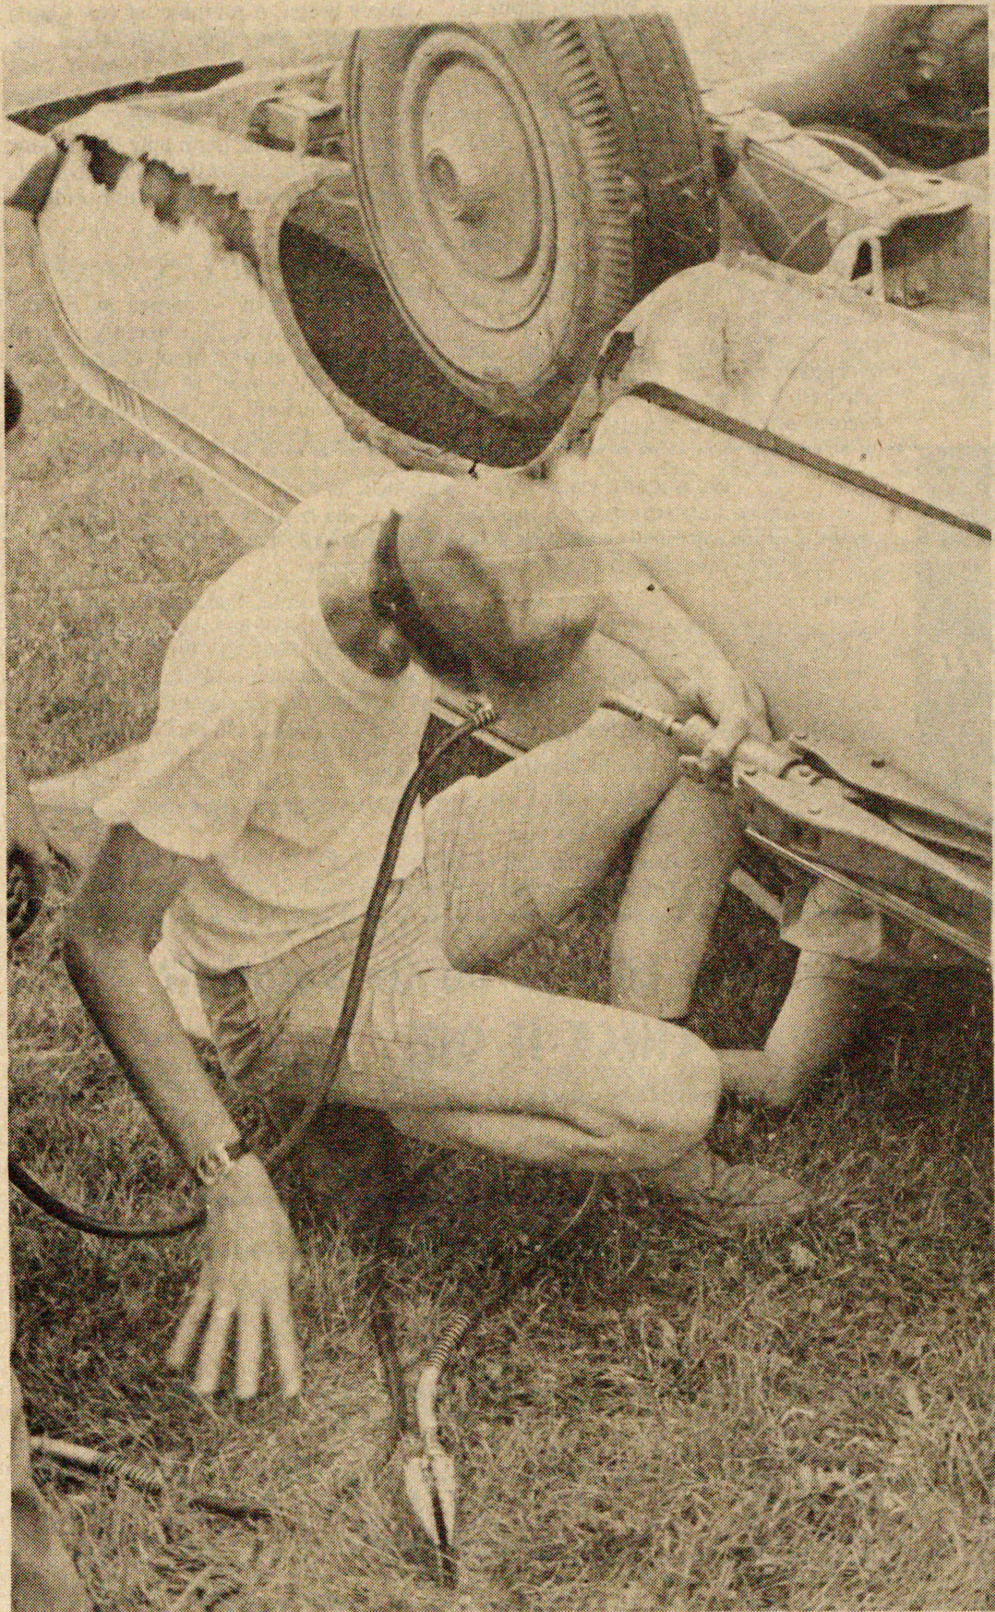

"The purpose of the program is to create a nucleus of trained personnel who can quickly and efficiently remove trapped persons from automobile wreckage without injuring or aggravating existing injuries," Chief Bettenhausen said.

Bettenhausen pointed out to the volunteers that rescuers ignorant of safety techniques cannot only aggravate the victim's injuries, but can actually be responsible for the victim's death.

The students were divided into five-man teams, each of which was given at least one wrecked automobile to work on.

Porto-powers, come-a-longs, air cutting guns, gasoline-driven rescue saws and other specialized rescue equipment were a few of the tools assigned to each team. Two or three firemen were placed in the wrecked automobiles to simulate an actual emergency. They were then rescued by the team.

The Colors will fly

ORLAND PARK — Working from an idea conceived by Village President Melvin Doogan plans are being made by the village in cooperation with the Lion's Club to fly flags in Orland Park on special occasions such as Flag Day, Fourth of July, etc.
 Approximately 100 United States flags will be flown on major streets in the village. The three by five foot flags will be attached by special brackets on the south side of 143rd Street from West Avenue to Brentwood, and on the east side of LaGrange Road from the overpass south to 151st Street. The brackets will provide space for other decorations during special seasons.

Jerry Steen, a member of the Lion's Club, said the club has been instrumental in the organizing and planning of the project with village trustees Harley Uthe and Robert Bibeau. The Lions hope now that many other village organizations will join with them in contributing money to purchase the flags.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER BY JIM HIRSCH

No one can condemn the goodness in being a Good Samaritan, but there are times when common sense should tell us NOT to be a Good Samaritan. A Good Samaritan motorist is victimized by a hitchhiker almost every day. In one place or another, an incident of robbery, rape, murder or physical violence is reported. Just as you cannot tell a book by the cover, you cannot, in an instant of stopping, determine a deserving, decent hitchhiker from a thumb-bum hoodlum. Yet, despite wide spread police warnings, drivers continue to pick up hitchhikers. These Good Samaritan drivers are literally asking for trouble.

Not too long ago, the New Jersey state police investigated turnpike hitchhikers. They found 162 runaways, 98 A.W.O.L. servicemen, 7 escapees from mental hospitals, and 5 escaped convicts. In addition, fingerprints identified 500 others with criminal records.

When you pick up a hitchhiker, you are making a guess that can affect your own safety and protection. Too many people have already guessed wrong. You can too. Is the guess worth the risk?

'That big, red-brick building'

Please see editorial on page 4 regarding proposed use of Fulton House as a Community Home.

TINLEY PARK — Steven Weinert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Weinert, has won two awards for his pencil-ink sketch of the Fulton House at Oak Park Ave. and South Street. The first award was First Prize from the Illinois Historical Society Regional Northeast and the second a Superior Blue Ribbon, State Superior Illinois Historical Society. Steven was awarded a scholarship at the Art Institute from the Tinley Park Womens' Club.

Steven, a 1972 Tinley Park High School graduate, did the sketch as a school project. It was first done in pencil, then transferred through carbon paper to the three and a half by two feet showboard cardboard. The outline and detail were then completed in ink. It took 70 hours to finish the minutely detailed reproduction of what is often considered the oldest building in Tinley Park. Steven may be taking his art work to the Illinois State Fair.

Although the building is referred to as the Fulton Building, it was actually built by Carl Vogt in 1871 as a speculative venture. The Rock Island railroad passed through the small village at that time and rumors circulated that another railroad would construct a line to Joliet, also passing through Tinley Park. At the point where the two lines were to cross, Vogt ordered the building built for office use. Construction of the railroad began and was completed for several miles when the railroad went broke resulting in bankruptcy for Vogt.

Later the building was purchased by the Fulton family who had lived in the area since 1835. The cost of the building when first constructed was $17,000. Clarence Fulton's grandmother purchased the building at a mortgage sale for $2,500. Fulton presently lives at 6653 W. 173rd St. He and his wife are the parents of Kenneth (village trustee) and Ronald, and grandparents of six.

The building is situated on a five acre site.

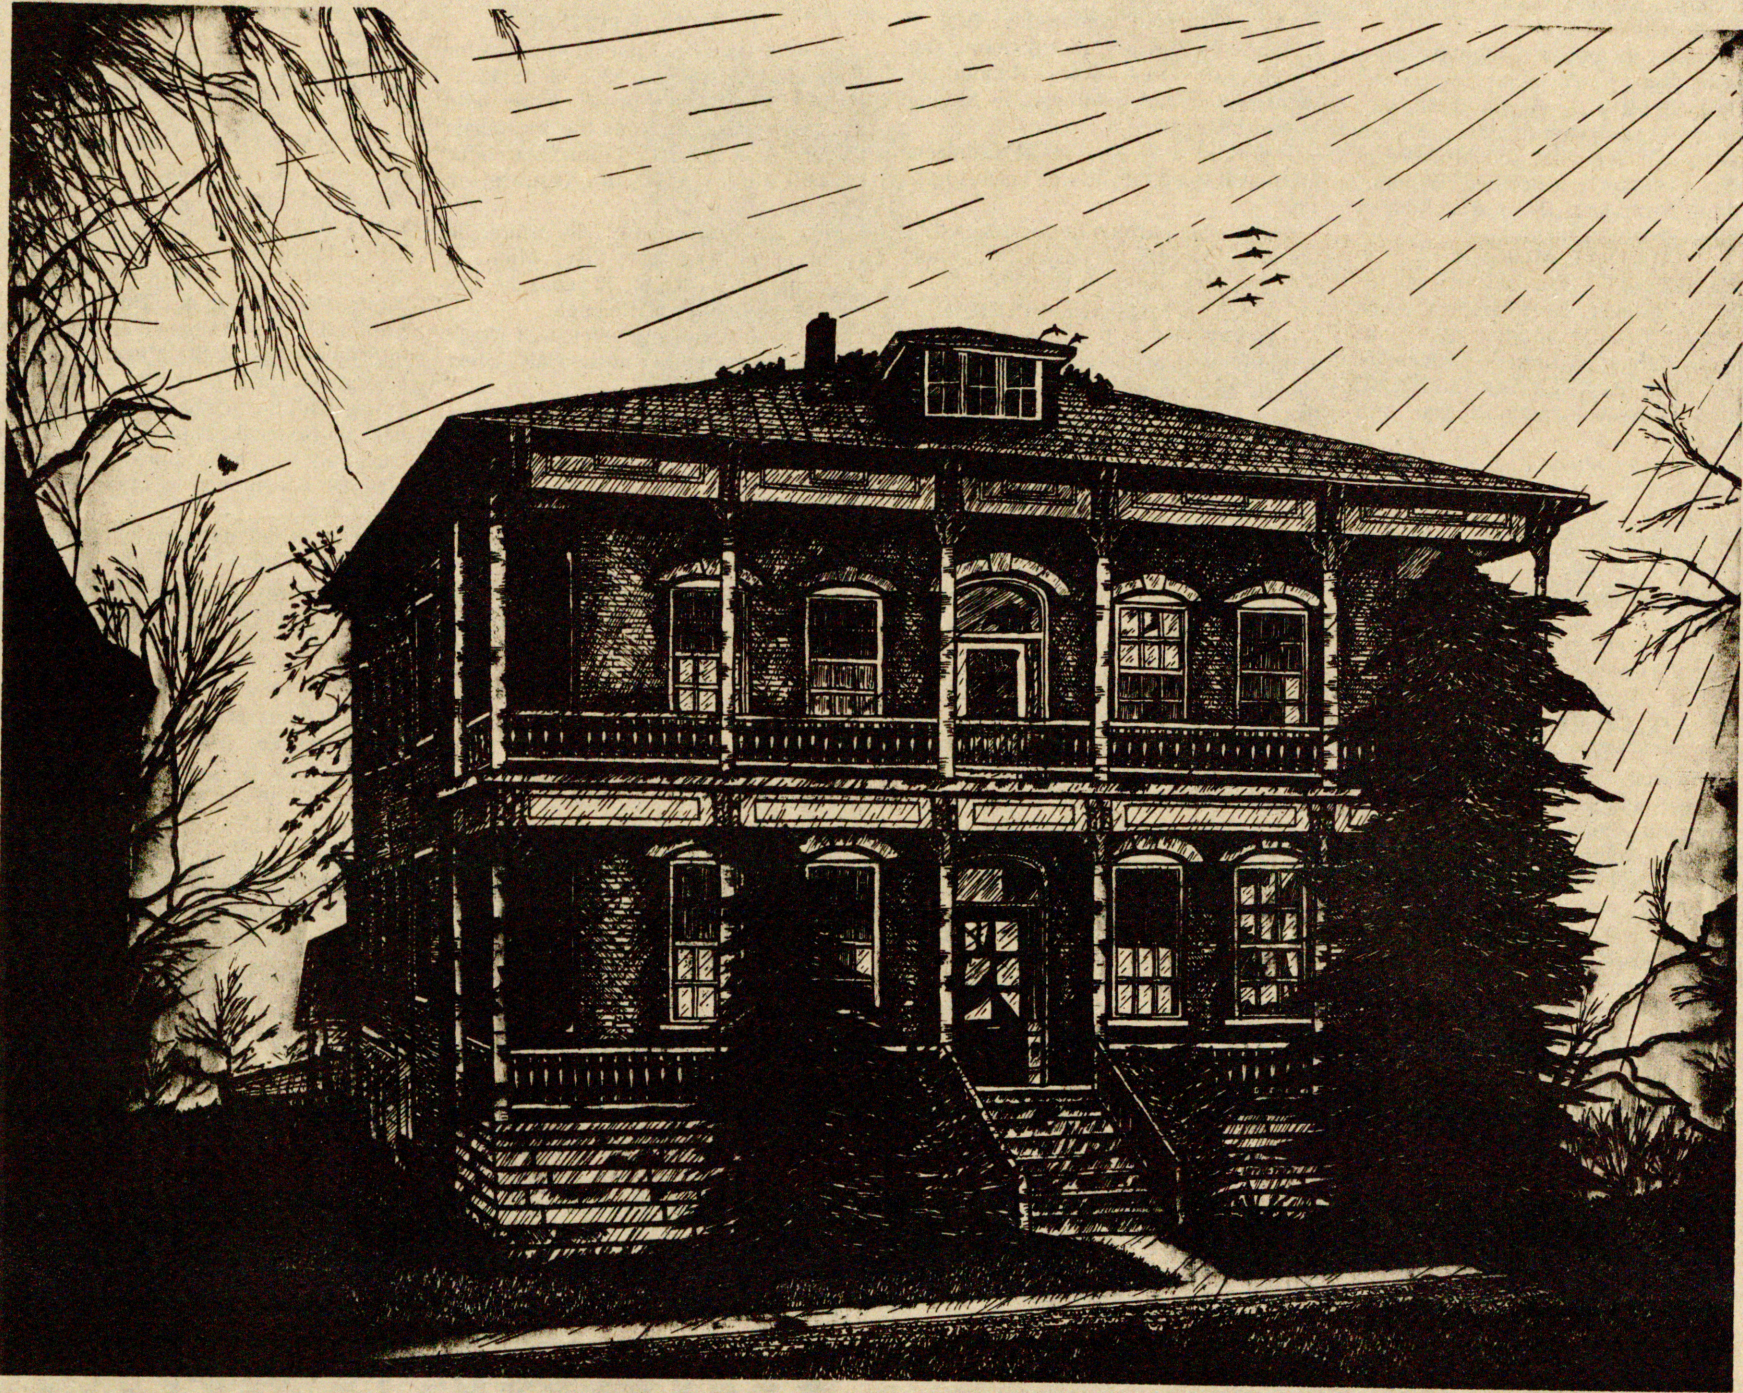

Fulton's grandmother died in 1911 and the building was sold in 1913 at the County Building, Chicago. Fulton's aunt and uncle bought the building for $3,500. The Fultons' then converted the building into four apartments and it is presently being used in this manner. Fulton lived in the building from 1915-1952. Until 1917, the building had been minus water and electricity.

The construction materials for the building came from the Joliet area. The brick had been hand-made. The outside walls are two layers of brick and the 36 inch limestone rocks for the foundation were cut by hand. Limestone mortar, not concrete, was used between the large slabs of the foundation. The building has twelve foot high ceilings.

Steven's art work is on display at the Bremen Bank and Trust Co., 17500 S. Oak Park Ave., Tinley Park. Steven lives with his parents at 6428 W. 163rd Place.

A pencil-ink sketch of the Fulton House, by Steven Weinert, is presently on display at the Bremen Bank and Trust Co., Tinley Park.

Will County Historical site receives acclaim

LOCKPORT — The old Illinois and Michigan Canal office in the 800 block on State Street, now utilized by the Will County Historical Society as its headquarters and museum, has been placed on National Register of Historic Places.

This action, it is said, gives the building a measure of protection for its preservation.

The people who pass it every day, once a year, or once a lifetime as a traveler who chanced to be going along State Street in Lockport, probably will be surprised to know that the building, which was erected in 1845, is a modified example of the Greek Revival style.

In fact the old I & M building has two styles embodied in its architecture.

It has a symmetrical facade, a low hipped roof, and a recessed porch. The type of building, especially those used for dwellings, was usually from one to one-and-a-half stories high. Such details as the rectangular transom and rather classic detailing above the windows on the porch also reflect this style.

It has a bit of the Victorian character too. This is in the two-story residence wing at the south end of the building that was added in the decade after the Civil War.

The building was lucky to be taken over by the Historical Society and saved from a life as a rooming house a tea room or hotdog stand.

Smith's FURNITURE GALLERIES

Orland Plaza - 143rd St. & LaGrange Rd., Orland Park, Illinois 60462

Telephone: 349-3100

Announcing SMITH'S FURNITURE GALLERIES 7TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION and SALE EVENT beginning Tuesday, August 1st through Saturday, August 19th.

The Theme of our celebration will be "1965 ALL OVER AGAIN" (the year we began our service to the community) with absolutely shocking price reductions "across the board". Most of us remember the inflationary spiral of the last seven years that have seen prices soar beyond belief. During this SALE EVENT all prices have been rolled back to that 1965 level. Now understand one thing, truly fine furniture has always been expensive and still is, but now you can purchase furniture by Henredon or Heywood Wakefield for the current going prices of vastly inferior products. Sound exciting? There is much, much more.

This is a fun time for us and we want you to share in the festivities. We have balloons for the little tykes (big ones too if they like) and a 4 foot hardwood yardstick for every family as well as a fine ice cream scoop for purchasers.

Don't forget to register for our door prizes. Naturally no purchase is required. Prizes will be publicly drawn at 3:00 P.M. Saturday, August 19th. Door prizes include:

- A SCHMID HAND CARVED CHESS BOARD AND PIECES
- A GENUINE REMBRANDT CHAIN SWAG LAMP
- A RESTONIC MATTRESS AND BOX SPRING ENSEMBLE
- A BENT COLONIAL ROCKER IN SOLID MAPLE

Even if you are not in the market for furniture, carpeting or draperies at this time, please consider this a personal invitation to stop by anyway, register for our door prizes, pick up your yardstick, have a good cup of coffee and say hello. We still want you to see what's new in home furnishings.

Don't forget the annual baseball banquet for the Arbury Hills Baseball League to be held this year at Dorand Hall, 15732 S. Halsted St., Harvey. The date will be Saturday, Sept. 9, 6 p.m. The cost of the tickets will be $4 for adults, $3 for youngsters, 7-15 and $2 for children 6 and under.

Tickets may be obtained from Jim Hubbard, 532-3569 or Mrs. Sue Thelen, 479-9129. Do not wait until the last minute.

The baseball season went out in a large way on Sunday, July 30, when a total of six games were played. The marathon began at about 1 p.m. and finished at dark.

The day started off with the Farm Teams All-Stars playing against the B Teams no. 2 All-Stars. The Farm Team were leading all the way until the final inning, when the B Team came from behind to win by the score of 14 to 13.

While they were playing on the big field, the Tigers Girls Softball Team was playing the Panthers Girls Softball Team. The Tigers matched their name and defeated the Panthers by the score of 20 to 6.

The next games saw the B Team no. 1 All-Stars play the B Team and the A Team ran away with the score 16 to 2. The second game on the little field pitted the Patriots Girls Softball Team against the assorted Moms. The final score depended on who was asked. Everyone agreed that the Patriots won and had 18 runs, but there the agreement ended. The Moms got from 6 to 9 runs, take your pick.

The final game at the home field matched the Pony Team All-Stars against assorted Dads, Coaches and Managers, and other willing bodies. Believe it or not, I'm told that the Dads won by the score of 6 to 5. Rumor has it that the Dads were crying and the Pony Team gave the game away to pacify them, but I don't believe it.

The sixth game was an away All-Star game with Arbury Hills and Frankfort Pony Team All-Stars against New Lenox and Manhattan All-Stars playing. The final score showed New Lenox-Manhattan winning by a one run margin, 11 to 10.

The Tigers Softball Team is still playing games now that the field is open for them. They hosted Peotone last week and took the win in the final inning. The score was 12 to 10.

The girls also played a fun game of softball against a variety of boys and, would you believe that they won over the "master" race by the score of 12 to 6?

The Tigers have another game scheduled at the field against another Peotone Team tonight, Wednesday, at 6 p.m.

Board studies bids for water iron filter

NEW LENOX — Bids submitted to the village board last Wednesday night in an iron filter for the water system are to be studied by Robert E. Hamilton Associates, village engineers, and John Djerf, of that firm. They are expected to have some suggestions to offer at the meeting next Wednesday, Aug. 16. There were two bids submitted, one by D.A. Principali Engineers Inc., of Joliet, and Wil-Freds, Inc., of Naperville.

The firms were asked to submit a base bid, which was to include the erection of a block and brick building to house the filter, and an alternate bid if the building was to be constructed of concrete block only. The figures also include the plumbing and electrical work, and the placing of the filter, which is large and heavy, at the site.

Principali's base bid was $117,346, and the alternate, $115,249. Wil-Freds base bid was $128,700, and the alternate, $127,200.

It also will be necessary to install an 8-inch main on Pine Street from Joliet Highway to Michigan Street, it was brought out. The engineers estimate the cost of this step will come to approximately $20,000. Bids are to be taken on this work. The council voted to table the bids to give the engineers time for further study to cut costs.

The board voted approval of two change orders dealing with bringing water service into the Haines and Oakview Schools. Djerf explained that the waterline will be under the streets. The cost for both jobs is given at $4,500, as a part of the contract for the water system.

Trustee Francis Miller, head of the water and sewer department, said he was hopeful of clearing up drainage problems on Kimber Drive and that as soon as village crews finished with the repair of the coil filter at the sewage treatment plant smoke tests would be undertaken to spot offenders that could be responsible for the backing up of sewers in the northwest section. The village board adopted an ordinance rezoning the Roland Cagwin lots at Maple Lane and Cedar Road from R-2 to C-4, except for the north 40 feet of Lot 2.

Crews of Blaine Saxton, which has the contract for installation of the water system, are working northward, filling holes, and repairing driveways. They have re-seated several fire hydrants where valves have leaked.

Classy chassis

The difference between a classic and a "heap" in the automobile trade is a lot of years, plus the image in the eye of the beholder. And, of course, there is a great deal of difference in dollars. Phillip Pasarella, head of Phillips Chevrolet at Frankfort, shows two of the 11 classic autos he acquired recently. Both are Chevrolets that made their debuts in the late 1930's.

Driveway accident causes girl's death

ARBURY HILLS — Funeral services for 16-month-old Nancy Medendorp, 19603 Redwood Lane, who died of accidental injuries Thursday night at Silver Cross Hospital, were conducted last Sunday (Aug. 6) afternoon at the Frankfort Community Chapel. The Rev. Kent Troyer, pastor of the Orland Bible Church, officiated. Burial took place Monday in Old Beulah Cemetery, Hopkins County, Kentucky.

According to the account at the sheriff's office the child's father had started to drive the family car forward slightly after hitching on a trailer and felt a bump. He found his daughter under the car.

Medendorp and his wife, Patricia, placed the child in the car and started for Silver Cross Hospital, taking U. S. 80.

He started to pass another car, about half a mile east of Francis Road, Medendorp told deputies later, and struck it lit lightly in the rear.

The driver of this car was a Missouri state trooper, Wayne Gardner, of St. Joseph, Mo., who with other troopers was returning from a shooting competition. They accompanied the Medendorps to the hospital. Nancy died about six hours after she had been injured.

Besides her parents she is survived by three sisters, Marilyn, Eve-Lynn and Wanda; one brother Timothy; her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Cora Johnson, and maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Ann Duncan, both of Providence, Ky, and her paternal grandfather, Fred Medendorp, Marion, Mich.

Village to decide plan change

FRANKFORT — Recommendations of planners covering non-conforming uses in the industrial areas of the village were found acceptable by the Frankfort Plan Commission and sent on to the Village Board for action.

The planning firm, Rolf C. Campbell and Associates, Lake Bluff, conducted a survey of the two industrial classifications in village zoning, L-1, limited industry, and I-2, general industry, he said.

They found 21 industries zoned L-1 and two that are I-2. Of the total number eight are non-conforming as to building setbacks, 12 non-conform as to height, and 10 non-conforming on open or outdoor storage.

The planners advocate no change in front yard setbacks, pointing out that when landscaping is omitted or curtailed the effect is detrimental to the image of the community as well as the firm that is involved.

The planning group holds that Frankfort's height restriction should be loosened.

Giving Elk Grove Village as an example of high quality, light facturing zoning, the consultants suggested a maximum of 35 feet for height in the L-1 district of Frankfort, and 45 feet in I-2 area.

Under the existing ordinance which was passed after most of the violations had been in existence for sometime — years in some cases — outdoor storage is banned in I-1 area. Nine of the existing I-1 industries are non conforming in that they do have outdoor storage. The consultants recommend amendment of the Frankfort ordinance which would permit outside storage, subject to Plan Commission approval.

The planners, however, would have such storage screened by landscaping and fence or wall. In case such storage was within 150 feet of a residential area it would have to be enclosed, in building or by solid fence and wall with solid gate, at least eight feet high, but in no case lower than the height of the enclosed storage.

Swanberg again parks head

MOKENA — The Mokena park board has held its annual election of officers. Charles Swanberg was re-elected president; Edwin Yunker, vice-president; Christine Evans, secretary, and Arthur Omland, treasurer.

It was announced that lights and poles donated to illuminate the tennis courts are now in place and that the wiring will be completed soon.

Other work completed has been the grading at the Arbury Hills Park. Fertilizing and seeding the grounds there should be completed soon.

The Arbury Hills Park is slated to be in operation next spring. There will be ball diamonds and playground equipment.

The board reported that the park has had more usage this year than any other period in its history. Picnics, reunions, and athletic events kept the park occupied all summer. It was in use daily for six weeks for the annual recreation program sponsored by the park board. Miss Carol Burkhardt is in charge this summer. The program ends Friday, Aug. 11. Attendance was reported good at all sessions.

The Burros Football teams of Mokena will use the park again this season for league play. Approximately 200 boys participate in the program from Mokena.

One of the much needed improvements at Mokena Community Park, it was said, is a new stand which can be used by various groups for the serving of refreshments. The present stand lacks running water, which is a requirement under the rules of the Will County Health Department.

It is possible, it was said, that some of the organizations in the community may aid the park board in putting up a new stand. Swanberg said the members would check such conveniences in other parks.

JOLIET — State Representative George M. O'Brien (R), now a candidate for congress recently made comment at a meeting conducted by the state highway department at Lincoln-Way High School dealing with the proposed South Suburban Freeway.

"Let there be any misunderstanding of the intent of my remarks," O'Brien said this week, "I would like to assure the people of the New Lenox, Mokena and Frankfort areas that I look with disfavor on any mini-corridor which would upset a residential community. It is my opinion that the state should bend over backwards to avoid disrupting private homeowners in its efforts to seek a proper route for the freeway.

"I might add that," I am aligned with no special group in this endeavor and my concern is addressed to the concerns of all the people in New Lenox, Mokena, and Frankfort areas who may be affected by any of the suggested mini-corridors," O'Brien said.

Blackjacks win Fieldwood title

OAK FOREST — Holding the Sluggers scoreless in five of the seven innings, the Blackjacks took the Fieldwood girls softball championship 7-4.

The Blackjacks scored in the first inning on hits by Laura Kelemen and Debbie Biscan. The Sluggers came back with three runs in the second with Lu Rupsis and Donna Neakarse hitting, and walks to Maureen Foley and Donna Rispoli sandwiched in between. Joan Trauch led off the Blackjack third with a single and Laura Kelemen followed with a single.

Lori Dehnert and Debbie Bretz grounded out, but Debbie Biscan doubled, followed by singles by Patti Dehnert and Madonna Cipolla.

In the BJ fourth hits by Lynn Benninger, Joan Trauch and Lori Dehnert accounted for two more runs. The BJs added their final run in the fifth and the Sluggers, in the last of the seventh.

The Sluggers hitting attack, which gave them seven wins in the last eight games, ran out of steam as only four girls, Donna Neakarse, Dianne Biscan and Sherrie Smith and Luann Rupsis hit safely, compared to eight girls in the BJ lineup. The Slugger team batting average of .528 slumped to .300 in the season's last game.

Slugger Dianne Biscan injured her ankle in the fifth and retired from the game, she hit two for three and ended the season with a .729 average. The two teams later in the day, combined forces and traveled to Worth as the Fieldwood team to trounce Worth, 32-4.

On July 31, the Sagabojos started out great against the Blackjacks leading at the end of two by a score of 5-2 on a triple by Darlene Dzik and a homer by Laura Shannon which brought in four of the runs and another driven in by Merle Collard.

The third inning was the start of disaster for the Sagas as the BJ's scored five runs followed by six more in the fourth and five in the fifth.

The Sagas kept hitting with runs scored by Mary Ann O'Donnell, Cindy Prilwitz and Laura Shannon but went down in a 23-11 final.

In the game between the Gingerbrats and the Sluggers the Brats failed to tally in the top of the first but in the Sluggers half Donna Neakarse started off with a homer followed by Desiree Cipola, Dianne Biscan and Sherrie Smith crossing the plate on hits by Sue Peterson and Luann Rupsis. Neither team was able to score in the second. In the top of the third Sue Wallace and Deanna Weisbrodt scored on hits by Deanna and Renee Humpal.

Slugger Sherrie Smith tallied on a hit by Maureen Foley. The Brats were unable to score in the top of the fourth while Donna Rispoli, Donna Neakarse and Desiree Cipola added three runs for their half.

The Brats fought back with two runs by Deanna Weisbrodt and Kim Skowronski and held the Slugs in the fifth.

The Slugs exploded for six runs by Jacke Kubin, Donna Neakarse, Desiree Cipola, Dianne Biscan, Sherrie Smith and Sue Peterson. The Brat's Renee Humpal and Nancy Dzik started a rally in the top of the seventh but it fell short as the Slugs won, 14-8.

On Aug. 2 The Brats met the Sagas and it was Brats all the way, 13-3.

The Brat's Sue Wallace, Renee Humpal and Nancy Dzik all scored in the first. Sue came in again in the second. In the third Nancy Dzik, Sue Wallace, Gail Gorman, Doreen Cassidy and Lydia Sneider all scored.

Nancy had a homer and three of the runs were driven in by a triple by Deanna Weisbrodt. Nancy Dzik tallied on a single by Lynn O'Donnell. The Sagas were held scoreless during the first four innings by Brat pitcher Renee Humpal.

In the top of the fifth Sagas Darlene Dzik and Valerie Bethel ruined the shutout by making the score 10-2 after the first half of the fifth.

In the bottom of the fifth Deana Magafus scored on a hit by Sue Wallace who later scored on a fielder's choice. The Sagas could not add to their score in the sixth as Renee held them in check.

Nancy Dzik scored in the sixth on a hit by Lynn O'Donnell. Saga Mariann O'Donnell scored the final run. The Brats had three innings that were three up and three down with Sue Wallace and Nancy Dzik going 4-for-4 and scoring each time she was on base.

Favorites win in semi-finals

TINLEY PARK — The Tinley Park Softball League semi-final play began Sunday with both favorites winning by two run margins. At Tinley Park High School, the Losers of Teehan Liquors edged Ray Feldner's Real Estate Landlovers 7-5. Meanwhile, the Brotherhood of Casey & Wood Sports was taking a 10-8 decision over the Nickelbag Revised entry from Bremen Bank & Trust.

All semifinalists reached championship play by taking their quarterfinal series last week. On Thursday night, both the Losers and the Nickelbag Revised splashed to victories in rain drenched contests.

Downing the Superchiefs, 28-23, the Losers took their series in two straight games. The Nickelbag's 29-13 win over the Bombers evened that match at one game each. In the rubber game on Friday, the Nickelbag took advantage of the Bomber's super-cold bats, 8-1, and won the series two games to one.

On Wednesday night, the scene was Tinley Park High School. The Brotherhood breezed through their quarterfinal series in two straight games with a 25-8 cakewalk over the Snappers. On the other side of the field, the Landlovers were getting back into the thick of things by downing the Roadrunners, 28-22.

This knotted the playoff series at one game each. On Friday night, the Landlovers closed it out with a 7-5 win for their second series victory.

The second and third (if necessary) games of the semifinals were scheduled for tomorrow, Aug. 10. Winners of these matchups will move on to a best three of five game championship series beginning on Sunday, August 13, at 2 p.m. on the Mental Health Center Field. area college and professional teams. Program Chairman is Donald Nie, Assistant Superintendent for Health and Youth Activities of the Educational Service Region of Cook County.

County School Supt. Martwick himself was formerly head football coach and athletic director at Ridgewood High School in Norridge. A former two-way football regular at the University of Detroit, he maintains an active interest in the role of athletics in elementary and high school curriculum. At a time when athletic programs are frequently curtailed due to a lack of adequate funds, Martwick has asserted his commitment to athletic programs in the schools.

He said: "In many districts athletics is not a priority program. It is considered extracurricular, a matter of fringe benefits and that is unfortunate because it very well may be the last frontier for conditioning and discipline in the schools.

"But irrespective of how people feel about the programs, as long as there is a single athletic program being maintained, that school must commit itself to the proper care of those who participate in sports. That means not just competitive sports but intramural sports as well, covering all students.

"The years have seen far too many injuries and even deaths occurring among our young competitors. We have to do everything possible to safeguard the young athlete.

"Our program is aimed at providing as much technical assistance as possible for those persons who are directly responsible for working with these young athletes in the schools."
